

GUIDELINES

Faculty of Science Undergraduate Research Prize

The Faculty of Science offers an Undergraduate Research Prize to students who have made a substantial commitment and contribution to research during their undergraduate programs. The prize is a non-monetary recognition of learning and contribution through participation in research outside of the classroom. The prize is awarded annually upon graduation to eligible students and is not based on GPA. The Undergraduate Research Prize will be noted on the student's academic transcript.

Eligibility criteria:

- 32 weeks of full time (or equivalent) research experience while registered in a BSc 20 credit major or BSc Honours Faculty of Science program at Dalhousie University
- Research conducted as part of a course (e.g., special topics, co-op, experiential learning courses) or as part of an honours project is not eligible

How to apply:

- Submit a completed application form (student) to your departmental contact person
- Ask each of the faculty members who supervised your research to provide a Faculty support letter. Ensure that the letter reaches your departmental contact person. You may collect the letters, or Faculty member may send the letters directly to the contact person.
- Deadline for application and letters of support: April 8th of your graduating year.

Departmental deadline: The application forms and letters of support should be forwarded to the Dean's Office (attention Undergraduate Research Committee) by April 12.
