Explore migration and identity in comparative perspective

3rd – 14th June 2024

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada

Learn

This intensive, two-week, for-credit program gives a unique opportunity to explore and compare Canadian and European experiences of migration and identity through a combination of seminars, guest lectures, hands-on research projects and field trips in Halifax and beyond. The course language is English.

Topics covered include:

- Immigration policy: comparing Canada and Europe
- Multiculturalism: Canadian and European perspectives
- Identity politics in Europe and Canada
- Nova Scotian local communities: case studies of migration and identity

Experience

Halifax is an historic gateway to Canada and home to a diversity of communities. We'll make the most of our location with field trips that allow students to engage with local communities and historic sites.

Classroom sessions take place at Dalhousie University and the Canadian Museum of Immigration at Pier 21, which provides an unparalleled learning experience through its exhibits, displays, oral history clips and artifacts.

Earn credits

The International Summer Institute on Migration and Identity offers visiting students a package that includes an intensive credit course (3 credit hours or 6 ECTS), experiences beyond the classroom, orientation, and on-campus accommodation. Bursaries may be available.
