

Scope of Permission for Classroom Recordings

All approved accommodations for class recordings made by students are for personal academic use only.

Students may not distribute, copy, or display class recordings, in full or in part, to anyone inside or outside of the course (including other students), or distribute, copy, or display to other electronic and social media platforms without additional written permission from the instructor and any other presenters.

The presence of audio recording technologies may impede discussion of course material. There may be times when an instructor asks that all forms of note taking – written notes and recorded notes – cease due to sensitive subject matter.

By signing this form, I acknowledge the conditions of this accommodation.

I further acknowledge that should I violate the conditions of the approved accommodation I may be subject to disciplinary action through the Dalhousie Code of Student Conduct, the Policy on Academic Honesty, or any other relevant disciplinary policies.
