COURSES

Choose the program that is best for you.

ESL Communication + English in Use

Apply your language skills in real-life situations in the community with a focus on understanding Canadian culture.

ESL Communication + Business Communication

Improve the skills you will need for developing business ideas and relationships in an international context. The focus is on written and oral skills needed for business proposals and product pitches.

ESL Communication + Marine Biology

You will explore Nova Scotian marine life and habitats through laboratory and field work. You will take trips to rocky shores, canal systems and a boat trip to observe whales and seals.

ESL Communication + Teaching in English

As an experienced elementary, secondary or post-secondary teacher, you will improve your ability to teach through the medium of English.

ESL Communication + Intro to Sustainability: Exploring the Ecological Footprint

You will examine the environment and learn about reducing environmental impact. The course includes use of the Ecological Footprint tool, trips to a LEED-certified building, and in-class opportunities to create sustainable household products.

ESL Communication + Engineering and the Environment

You will explore engineering principles applied to problems related to buildings, the natural environment, natural resources and technology.

ESL Communication + Web Development

You will learn key web concepts including website creation, hypertext markup languages, style sheets, client-side programming, and multimedia foundations. This class also introduces dynamic content management.

ESL Communication + Chronic Conditions Management

You will examine chronic condition management through face-to-face interviews with community organizations, review of key articles, and rich discussion with an interprofessional perspective.
