Stewardship Values Award

Omer Suleman

Custodial Services

Omer noticed a big gap in computer literacy with his department along with a desire from his colleagues to learn and develop. As a member of the Employment Equity Council his idea was turned into a program co designed with FM and Computer Science where staff were given hands-on learning how to access their pay stubs and other essential information. This gave FM staff autonomy and independence from relying on their supervisors to help them access and process sensitive matters such as benefits.
