

Valued Colleague

Alain Maldemay continues to be a valued colleague; I am often at the office at night (as I am today), and it is so nice to have Alain here for some quick chats.

I will also comment again on Alain's work ethic. Tonight he commented that he had gotten through things a little more quickly than normal, so he is cleaning our secretariat offices today, and will do so again tomorrow. I also know that the individuals installing the cooling system in Research Services have not put down plastic as they worked, and Alain commented that he has wiped down the equipment and desks 4 times!

I trust you all know how highly I think of our custodial team, and I always think of the work they put in during Covid while others worked from home. We have always been lucky in the Hicks with our custodial staff but Alain really sets the standard as far as I am concerned.
