

Facilities Management Recognized at Dalhousie Legacy Awards

The 2024 Legacy Awards event was held on December 17 at the Dalhousie Arts Centre. Staff and faculty from across campus were recognized for their achievements including the recipients of the 2024 Facilities Management Stoker Awards.

The 2024 Stoker Award for Safety went to many members of the FM team at the Agricultural Campus who volunteered to greet and screen at a Covid clinic in 2021.

Pictured L to R: Jason Penney, Ritchie Davison, Steve Stanton, Dwayne Warwick, Brett Nelson, Annette Bent, Starla Hutt. Missing: DJ McCarthy, Irving Sharpe, Ed Bowers, Marven MacKenzie, Ken Dunn, Seymour Publicover, Leanne Fisher and Gordie Farrell.

The 2024 Stoker Award for Innovation went to a number of FM's electricians who collectively gave up thousands of hours of their time away from family on weekends and overnight to execute planned power shutdowns upgrading the university's electrical infrastructure. Acting AVP Craig Arthur accepted the award on behalf of current employees Jack Roach, Drew Tavener and retired employees Joe Beaver, Kevin Hazel, Tom Hunter, Dave Lantz and Glen MacDonald.

The first ever 2024 Stoker Award for Employee Choice went to 40-year custodian Nancy McGrath, who got a standing ovation from her clients at the Safety Office who say she is a true member of their teams, keeps offices in impeccable shape and is one of the most pleasant, kind-hearted people you'll ever meet. She was chosen for this award by her fellow Facilities Management colleagues at the annual employee appreciation award in October.

DALHOUSIE
UNIVERSITY

FACILITIES
MANAGEMENT