

FM Trades Team Recognized for World Class Site Preparation

“The installation of the Qexactive mass spectrometer and Vanquish chromatograph was completed yesterday. I just wanted to let you know that, in the words of Thermo-Fisher's Feils Engineer, this was one of the best site preparations he has seen. The installation procedures for this instrumentation are very complex, requiring precise electrical, plumbing and carpentry work; all three met or exceeded the specifications on the installation guides – without a single hiccup. In spite of a few delays we encountered in the process, I'd like to recognize the work done by the three trades and their personnel.”

Alejandro Cohen
Scientific Director, Proteomics and Mass Spectrometry Core Facility

Two photos from the Qexactive mass spectrometer installation

