

Honesty, Integrity and Service

Parsu Humagain, the night cleaner at the Burbridge Building is being recognized after finding a cheque during his nightly routine, and going out of his way to find the right place to return it.

“Some sort of recognition of Parsu’s actions would be appropriate. He could have easily thrown it away ignored it etc. Instead he went the extra mile and brought the matter to my attention and asked me to take care of it. I think the University should always go out of its way to explicitly recognize honesty, integrity and service particularly when so clearly demonstrated by an employee who may not have a lot of authority or autonomy – or get a lot of respect - in their day-to-day work activities.”

Ken Moors

Director of Finance, Faculty of Health

December 2019

