

Putting Campus First in Fiona

“Thank you to everybody and their teams who worked so hard to keep all of the people safe on campus during the storm, and to get us back up and running so quickly. In particular I want to thank the grounds crew, who were out in all weather clearing debris across campus. I was speaking with one member of the team today (Balbeer Singh) to say thank you, and he noted that he has two trees down on his property and is without power, but he is here making sure that we all have a safe campus to return to. That is an incredible commitment to the University, and it is teams like the grounds crew who keep us going all year round.”
