Strong Communicator and Collaborator

Project Manager Heather Osborne's commitment deserves to be celebrated. She is a strong communicator and collaborator who brings genuine care and pride to her work. She approaches each project thoughtfully, always looking for ways to achieve a successful outcome while minimizing interruptions to operations. Heather consistently demonstrates an exceptional level of dedication, often going above and beyond to problem-solve, navigate challenges, and keep projects moving forward. While that level of personal commitment is certainly not an expectation, it speaks to the pride she takes in her work and her desire to see things done well. The many successful projects she has completed are a testament to her persistence, care, and commitment, and the effort she puts in behind the scenes deserves recognition.
