Immense Pride and Attention to Detail

“Melissa Elliott is truly one of a kind. She is consistently friendly, fast, and efficient, routinely going above and beyond to ensure our building, employees, and students are well cared for. No matter how busy she is, Mel always greets everyone with a warm smile, making each person feel seen and valued. Whenever someone has a question, she willingly steps away from her own heavy workload to help. Her dedication is especially clear when coverage is short; when others call in sick, she doesn't miss a beat, managing extra responsibilities so seamlessly that the transition is completely unnoticed. Mel takes immense pride in her work, and her incredible attention to detail shows in everything she does. On behalf of myself and the Department of English, thank you, Mel, for your outstanding hard work and everything you do for us around the McCain.”

Angie Morash, Department of English, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences