Meeting the McCain Challenge

"Monica Williams had the thankless task of running the large, complex, lengthy McCain envelope project. I am in the Dean's office and can tell you that as a project manager she was a dream to work with: her communication was regular and clear, she was very responsive to any problems or issues that arose, she is friendly and open, she paid careful attention to big things and the smallest details. We are very grateful that Monica lead this project and cannot say enough good things about her. Thank you, Monica!
