

ENGL 5842: Exiles Captives Migrants

This course will study plays that explore how the experience of travel in the Renaissance is figured not as the free movement of liberal subjects, but as the result of mixed motivations: anxiety and longing, political persecution and exile, new potential for thriving and exploitation, or organized trafficking and enslavement.