

Advanced Seminar in Baroque Culture

HIST 4162/MUSC 4360/THEA 4735

Study Abroad in Český Krumlov, Czech Republic

31 May - 1 July 2019

Course Description

The Advanced Seminar in Baroque Culture, held at UNESCO world heritage site Český Krumlov (Czech Republic), is offered by Dalhousie University's Fountain School of Performing Arts and the University of King's College each year during the month of June. Taught by two faculty members – an historian and either a theatre scholar or a musicologist – the course is offered to upper-level undergraduate students in the arts and social sciences onsite at the Schwarzenberg castle. The court theatre at Český Krumlov is one of two 18th-century theatres worldwide with moving stage sets and stage machinery intact, complemented by a large collection of Baroque costumes and extensive archival materials, including musical scores of the 17th and 18th centuries. The location presents unparalleled opportunities for students to experience first-hand the splendour of Baroque culture.

Students will be introduced to the key aspects of 17th- and 18th-century European history along with a first-hand view of some of the most important aspects of early modern theatre, opera, costumes, and stage technology. There will be ample opportunity to consider the connections between course readings and primary source documents in dialogue with material culture, especially the castle theatre's machinery, stock of original scenery and props, and collection of historical costumes. The course concludes with 'Baroque Night', an evening of early modern courtly entertainment, including commedia dell'arte figures, Baroque dance, excerpts of an experimental opera performance in the court theatre, and a lavish banquet, complete with Baroque fireworks.

This course is equivalent to 6 credit hours completed in the span of four weeks. Students will complete daily readings, two writings assignments (typically an analysis of primary source documents for each of the history and musicology/theatre sections), and a final exam. Classes run daily from approximately 10am-12pm and 2pm-4pm, although the schedule might vary in view of excursions and other opportunities for experiential learning as they arise. Ability to read music is helpful but not required. The course instructors for 2019 will be announced shortly.

Special Events and Weekend Activities

We normally spend the first weekend in Krumlov acclimatizing to the town. Activities include a welcome dinner; seeing museums, art galleries, churches; going water rafting; hiking up to the sanctuary or visiting the castle gardens. At some point during the second week there is usually a 2-night excursion to Prague, where students will attend an opera performance at the Estates Theatre. Faculty often lead semiprivate walking tours in various areas of the city. Students also have free time to explore castles, museums, and other leisure activities.

The town's Five Petalled Rose Festival takes place on the weekend of June 21-23, 2019. Students rent costumes, thereby gaining free admission to the town centre. Activities include Renaissance performances, processions and tournaments. The final weekend features Baroque Night, including Baroque dance, music, a performance of opera excerpts in the Baroque theatre and Baroque fireworks. Since Krumlov is not easily accessible by train or bus from major European centres, students who wish to travel around Europe are strongly advised to do so either before or after the course.

Travel Arrangements and Accommodation

Students are responsible for making their own flight arrangements and to meet the group at the Linz (Austria) airport, usually on the Friday afternoon before the course begins. A shuttle will take students directly from Linz to Krumlov. Similarly, there is one designated departure time when the shuttle will take students from Krumlov back to Linz, usually the Monday morning following Baroque Night. While in Krumlov, the class lives on premises at the castle in a newly renovated Český Krumlov Study Centre (two students per room). Each room has a private washroom with shower. Breakfast is included and there is a shared common area.

Student Experience

Here are recent comments from students who have taken the course:

“This course was more than I could have hoped for.”

“It was an incredible experience filled with academics and adventures. I grew as a person, as a student, and as a traveler.”

“The friendships I made during the month in Český Krumlov will last a lifetime.”

International Students Please Note: International students will have to pay the international differential amount when registered for this course. This can vary from student to student depending on their individual situation. The amount an international undergrad student would be assessed in the fall for a single 6 hour course is $1,902 in addition to regular tuition charges and the auxiliary fee of $600.

Application and Registration

Students interested in the class must complete an application form and pay a non-refundable deposit of CAD $350 by January 15. Once your application is approved and your deposit is paid, Dal's Fountain School will give you permission for the class. Summer classes are available for registration in February 2019. Given the fragility of material culture at Krumlov, the course is limited to 25 students and admission is granted on a first-come first-served basis.

All students are required to take part in an online pre-departure orientation course. You must hold a passport that is valid for six months after your return date in order to travel. See the web site for details: https://www.dal.ca/campus_life/international-centre/outbound_exchange/preparing-to-leave-canada.html. The web site also provides valuable information on passports, financial aid and other general tips on studying abroad.
