Philosophy: Friday Colloquia 1993

December 17, 1993
Carl Matheson, University of Manitoba
When Hell is Full the Dead Shall Walk the Earth: An Archaeology of the Horror Film

December 3, 1993
Susan Campbell, Dalhousie University
Autobiography and the Conditions of Personhood

November 19, 1993
Michael Watkins, Dalhousie University
Partial Realism and Colors: What to do about that Embarrassing Residual Normativity

November 12, 1993
Robert M. Martin, Dalhousie University
Time Travel Again

October 29, 1993
Dr. Duncan MacIntosh, Dalhousie University
Rationality Vs. Resemblance in Diachronic Personal Identity

October 22, 1993
Susan Sherwin, Dalhousie University
The Ethical Significance of Metaphors

October 8, 1993
Susan Wake, Saint Mary's University
Locke on Resemblance: An Aristotelian/Scholastic Hangover

September 17, 1993
Richmond Campbell, Dalhousie University
In Defense of Feminist Empiricism

August 27, 1993
Jan Sutherland, Dalhousie University
Externalism and Epistemic Habit

August 20, 1993
Jean Ballargeon, University of Toronto
Two Views of the Priority of Liberty

August 13, 1993
Peter Railton, University of Michigan
Some Conceptions of Normativity in Ethics
August 6, 1993 Ronald Giere, University of Minnesota
Visual Models and Scientific Judgment
(An Austin and Hempel Lecture)

July 30, 1993
Carl Matheson, University of Manitoba
Meta-Theory Ladenness: Why Historicism Won't Help (Co Authored with Rhonda Martens)

July 23, 1993
Bryson Brown, University of Lethbridge
How to Express a Rule

July 16, 1993
Andrew Latus, Dalhousie University
Knowledge, Luck and Externalism

June 25, 1993
Samantha Brennan, University of Western Ontario
Paternalism (or when can we override a rights claim on the basis of what is at stake for the right bearer?)

June 11, 1993
Peter Schotch, Dalhousie University
Action Theory and the Dalhousie Project

May 21, 1993
David Braybrooke, Dalhousie University & University of Texas at Austin
David Hume: Natural Law Theorist and Moral Realist

May 14, 1993
Richmond Campbell, Dalhousie University
Can Biology Make Ethics Objective?

May 7, 1993
Kadri Vihvelin, Dalhousie University
Causation

April 30, 1993
Wayne Fenske, Dalhousie University
Hume and Penelhum on Personal Identity

April 2, 1993
Roland Puccetti, Dalhousie University
Nagel's Fractionated Persons
March 19, 1993
Ray Martin, University of Maryland
Fission Rejuvenation (This lecture was supported by the 'Enlightenment Fund' of the Faculty of Graduate Studies)

March 12, 1993
Sue Campbell, Dalhousie University
Love and Its Objects: Roxanne's Choice

March 5, 1993
Duncan MacIntosh, Dalhousie University
God, Counterfactuals and the Big Bang

February 12, 1993
Elizabeth Spelman, Smith College
Slavery and Tragedy
(An Austin and Hempel Lecture in cooperation with the Women's Studies Programme of Dalhousie University)

January 29, 1993
Christopher Byrne, St. Francis Xavier University
What's Wrong with Rights?

January 22, 1993
Tom Vinci, Dalhousie University
Descartes' Causal Principle and the Proof of God's Existence

January 15, 1993
David Braybrooke, Dalhousie University & University of Texas at Austin
Changes of Rules, Issue Circumscription, and Issue-Processing