Philosophy: Friday Colloquia 2001

December 14, 2001
Liam Dempsey, University of Western Ontario
Reduction Without Explanation? Qualia-Body Identity and the Explanatory Gap

December 7, 2001
Nathan Brett, Dalhousie University
Private Life: Biotechnology and the Public/Private Divide

November 23, 2001
Chris MacDonald, Departments of Philosophy and Bioethics, Dalhousie University
Proxy Contractarianism: Parsing the Assumption of Mutual Disinterest

November 16, 2001
Kira Tomsons, Dalhousie University
Iris Young and Oppression: Identifying and Limiting Group-Claims to Oppression

November 2, 2001
Sue Campbell, Dalhousie University
Emotion, Memory and Political Identification

October 26, 2001
Michael Hymers, Dalhousie University
Going Around the Vienna Circle: Wittgenstein and Verification

October 12, 2001
Bryson Brown, University of Lethbridge
Approximate Truth in Context

October 5, 2001
Jenna Woodrow, Dalhousie University
Justifying Consensus: An Evolutionary Social Epistemology

September 14, 2001
Sheldon Wein, Dalhousie University
Law's Province

August 24, 2001
Carolyn Ells, Department of Bioethics, Dalhousie University
Shifting the Autonomy Debate to Theory as Ideology

August 17, 2001
John Barresi, Department of Psychology, Dalhousie University
(Co-authored with Ray Martin, Department of Philosophy, University of Maryland)
Self-Concern from Priestley to Hazlitt
August 10, 2001
Sandy Bannikoff, Dalhousie University
The Tractarian Solution to the Problem of Universals

August 3, 2001
Carl Matheson, University of Manitoba
What the Reader's Brain Tells the Reader's Heart

July 27, 2001
David Braybrooke, Dalhousie University and University of Texas at Austin
A Progressive Approach to the Problem of Global Moral Responsibility

July 20, 2001
Peter Alward, University of Lethbridge
Between the Lines of Age: Reflections on the Metaphysics of Words

July 13, 2001
Michael Watkins, Auburn University
Seeing Red: The Metaphysics of Colour without the Physics

June 29, 2001
Michael Hymers, Dalhousie University
Metaphor and Number

June 22, 2001
Antonia LoLordo, University of Virginia
Descartes and Gassendi on the Relationship between Mind and Body

June 15, 2001
Christine Koggel, Bryn Mawr College
Problems in Practice with Amartya Sen's Development as Freedom

June 8, 2001
Andrew Brook, Carleton University
Kant, Awareness and Self-reference

June 1, 2001
Dave Boutilier, University of Western Ontario
The A Priori Constitutive Element in Theories of Spacetime

May 18, 2001
Wilfred Cude Attrition Statistics: Forerunners of Academic Change
May 11, 2001
Mark Mercer, Saint Mary's University
To Love Justice for Its Own Sake

May 4, 2001
Jason Robert and Tom Vinci, Dalhousie University
Aristotle and Modern Genetics

April 27, 2001
Daryn Lehoux, History of Science and Technology Programme, University of King's College
Metaphor and Number

April 20, 2001
Phil Rose, Dalhousie University
Questioning Biotechnology: Moral Considerability and the Autonomy of Nature

April 6, 2001
Nathan Brett, Dalhousie University
Treating Like Cases Differently

March 23, 2001
Mason Cash, Dalhousie University
When Is a Process Representational?

March 16, 2001
Samantha Brennan, University of Western Ontario
Moral Gaps, Individual Rights, and Obligations to Aid: The Two-Threshold Thesis

March 9, 2001
Dr. Gerald Cohen, All Souls College, Oxford University
Freedom and Money
(An Austin and Hempel Lecture sponsored by the Department of Philosophy in collaboration with the Department of Political Science, Dalhousie University and with Contemporary Studies, University of King's College)

March 2, 2001
Marc Ereshefsky, University of Calgary
Species Begone? The Future of Biological Classification
AND
Making Normal People
(Presented in cooperation with the Evolution Studies Group of Dalhousie University)

February 9, 2001
Kira Tomsons, Dalhousie University
Multiculturalism and Liberalism: A Problem with Neutrality
January 19, 2001
Sue Sherwin, Dalhousie University
Moral Perception and Global Visions

January 12, 2001
Steven Burns, Dalhousie University
Something from Nothing: Peter Winch on Philosophy and Religion

January 5, 2001
Mark Mercer, Saint Mary's University
Suffering, Sorrow, and the Gift of Free Will