Gender Identity / Expression	Language, particularly in relation to gender identity and gender expression, involves social constructs which evolve over time. The options presented are not meant to label individuals but are meant to be helpful functional descriptors. They are not standardized and may be used differently by different people. Gender identity refers to each person's internal and individual experience of gender. It is their sense of being a woman, man, both, neither, or anywhere along or outside of the gender spectrum. Gender expression refers to how a person expresses their gender through behaviour and outward appearance such as dress, hair, make-up, body language, and voice. A person's name and pronoun are also common ways of expressing gender identity.	How do you describe your gender identity/expression? Select all that apply.
