Hunter Humanities Award Graduating Class 2022

The Hunter Humanities Award will be presented to a graduating medical student at Dalhousie who has made an outstanding contribution to the concept and spirit of the humanities in medicine and demonstrated the humanistic qualities of caring and compassion in his/her care of patients. The award, $1000, has been generously contributed by a Dalhousie Graduate, Dr. Mary Hunter, retired from anesthesiology practice in Toronto.

Activities considered for this humanities award cover any projects or activities that capture the spirit of medical humanities and do not have to be projects within the Humanities Program. They may include activities in other parts of the medical program and the community.

Students can nominate themselves or a fellow student. Faculty are invited to nominate students.

Submit Nomination Letter, letters of support (maximum three), supporting background information (projects/activities related), and abbreviated 2-page CV to medhuman@dal.ca.

DEADLINE: FRIDAY, April 15, 2022
