

WHAT IF I SAY THE WRONG THING? INTEGRATING EDIA INTO TEACHING

Professional Development Seminar Series Interactive Workshop (Fundamentals of Teaching and Research)

Dr. Lynette Reid & Dr. Wendy Stewart

We are in the midst of a curriculum refresh, including the integration of diverse identities into case-based learning. The aim is to better reflect the diversity of patients that students will actually see in practice and has relevance throughout medical training and on into practice. This interactive workshop will introduce you to the process and help you think through some of the situations you might come across in your teaching and consider the language that is most helpful for learners. There will be situations that come up you might find challenging – using personally identified and simulated situations, this workshop will provide opportunities to consider how you might deal with them.

By the end of this interactive workshop participants will:

- Explain the language we need to be mindful of when teaching
- Identify situations related to equity, diversity, inclusion and accessibility (EDIA) that might arise when teaching
- Demonstrate how to foster a safe space for discussions about EDIA
- Apply the concepts learned to personally identified and simulated situations

Postponed to February 27th , 2023

1730-1900 hrs

Please note: This workshop will be held in person synchronously at both the Saint John (rm245) and Halifax (Theatre A) sites.

Please register in advance as space is limited.

Contact:

FacDev@Dal.Ca to register for Halifax site or

Angela.Hogan@dal.ca to register for Saint John site