

IMG Clerkship Program

Admissions

Dalhousie Medical School

One of Canada's earliest faculties, was founded over one hundred and twenty five years ago. Dalhousie University's Faculty of Medicine is responsible to society to provide a program for undergraduate medical students such that graduates have the knowledge, skills, professional behaviours and attitudes necessary to enter the supervised practice of medicine in Canada.

Graduates must be able to diagnose and manage health problems and provide comprehensive compassionate care to their patients. For this reason, students in the MD program must possess essential abilities and skills for the study and practice of medicine which are described in Dalhousie Faculty of Medicine's Technical Standards document which can be found on our website. All prospective applicants and students are expected to review this document to assess their ability to meet these standards.

IMG Clerkship Program For Newcomers to Nova Scotia

The IMG Clerkship Program admits two qualified candidates into clerkship (third- and fourth-year medical students) at Dalhousie Medical School in Halifax campus. Once you complete the program, you'll be eligible to enter the first round of the CaRMS match as a Dalhousie graduate.

Residency Status

Please note that only newcomers to Canada (and residents of Nova Scotia) are eligible for this program. To be eligible as a Nova Scotia resident you must present proof of physically living in the province for at least 12 consecutive months (1yr) which is calculated from the application deadline.

Program Overview

The IMG Clerkship program is comprised of the final two years of Dalhousie's medicine program leading to an MD degree. Successful candidates are invited to take part in the LINK program, a preparatory program, which runs from late May until the end of August. The LINK Program reviews skills and procedures as well as provides experience in OSCEs (Objective Structured Clinical Examination), clinical settings, and numerous sessions with simulated patients (SPs). IMGs may register individual sessions or the complete program (tuition fees apply).
