

LEADER	RESEARCHER	CATALYST	INTEGRATOR	ADVOCATE
Lead the Dalhousie Pain Team A visionary who synergizes the Dalhousie pain team will ensure we realize opportunities that we, and thus patients, may otherwise miss: new developments in patient care, new research collaborators and funding, and prospects for medical and public education about pain. The Chair will act as a CEO, maximizing the value of our contributions to patient care.	Discover New Pain Treatments and Management Strategies As an established, top researcher, the Endowed Chair in Pain will conduct and direct research toward new pain treatments and management strategies. The Chair's research program will expand on Dalhousie's current research foci, enriching the pain research underway.	Initiate Pain Education Across the Continuum The Endowed Chair in Pain will work with Dalhousie University to ensure current and future healthcare providers better understand pain, its pathology, prevalence and effect. The Chair will design and facilitate the implementation of a pain curriculum for students and residents in the faculties of medicine and health professions.	Apply Research to Patient Care As a clinician and scientist, the Endowed Chair in Pain will champion research that directly affects patient care. The Chair will act as a conduit between researchers, clinicians, industry and the healthcare system to ensure patients benefit from new knowledge as quickly as possible.	Advocate for Better Pain Care The Endowed Chair in Pain will work with other leaders in research, policy makers, government representatives and health charity partners to improve the care of people experiencing pain. For those with chronic pain – more than one in five Canadians, the Chair will advocate for programs and policies that help secure a better quality of life.