

Building Research for Integrated Primary Healthcare

@BRIC_NS

www.bricns.com

Primary Health Care Research Day 2019

Using what we know: Implementing research into practice and policy

#PHCResearchDay

June 17, 2019

Collaborative Health Education Building
5793 University Ave.

Dalhousie University Campus

Primary Health Care Research Day

Primary Health Care Research Day is an opportunity for learners, decision makers, citizens, clinicians and researchers from a variety of disciplines to come together and celebrate primary health care research happening in Nova Scotia and across Canada.

Registration is open until May 31, 2019

Patients and caregivers attending the conference may apply for a bursary to cover registration costs.

Abstracts are being accepted until April 18, 2019.

Patients, students, medical residents, health care providers, faculty, researchers, knowledge users and the primary health care (PHC) research community are encouraged to submit abstracts.

Questions about Primary Health Care Research Day can be sent to bricns@dal.ca.

Visit <https://bricns.com/primary-health-care-research-day/> for information.

Financial support is provided by:

DALHOUSIE UNIVERSITY

Family Medicine

Primary Health Care Research Day is presented in partnership with:

CoR-PHC
Collaborative Research
in Primary Health Care