MISSION STATEMENT

The Department of Urology at Dalhousie University and within its various clinical practice sites including the Queen Elizabeth II Health Sciences Centre, the IWK Grace Health Centre, Dartmouth General Hospital, Cobequid Multi-Service Centre, Hants Community Hospital, Saint John Regional Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital are committed to excellence in assisting patients to achieve their optimal level of well-being through dynamic and comprehensive programs and services, including clinical care; education of undergraduate and postgraduate students, other health professionals and the public; promotion of and participation in continuing medical education activities; and leadership in the advancement and dissemination of knowledge through research.

We strive to accomplish this mission by:

- ensuring that all Dalhousie medical graduates have a strong grasp of basic and clinical knowledge and sufficient clinical experience to enable them to handle competently, common urological conditions at the primary care level regardless of their eventual field of study (Undergraduate Teaching)
- providing the necessary teaching and training to urology residents to produce competent specialists in the field of urology and to fulfill the requirements of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada (Postgraduate Teaching)
- organizing and promoting opportunities for educational events dealing with contemporary urological issues based on needs assessments (Continuing Medical Education)
- supporting clinical and basic research in the Department to provide a progressive and inquisitive atmosphere for students, to enable the proper evaluation of new diagnostic and therapeutic developments and to stimulate Departmental members who are leaders in the urological subspecialties (Research Environment)
- encouraging supportive interactions with a variety of other medical disciplines, nurses and allied health professionals (Multidisciplinary Environment)

CAREER DEVELOPMENT ANNUAL REVIEW GUIDELINES FOR UROLOGY RESIDENTS

Preamble

Given that the Department of Urology's goal is the attainment of high standards of excellence in clinical, research and teaching activity for its residents, it is essential that the Department nurtures postgraduate trainees in a continuous and positive manner. It can achieve this goal, in part, by ensuring that residents are afforded the benefit of annual Career Development Reviews. An annual Career Development Review is a valuable process that is most effective when collaborative in nature. It is designed to provide appropriate and timely feedback that can be incorporated into both formative (developmental) and summative (evaluative) performance assessments that occur during a resident's career. It provides an opportunity for residents to participate in their own career development and planning within the framework of Department performance standards and requirements of the Royal College. Defined criteria and informed discussions will facilitate decisions at various career points. This is consistent with and supportive of the notion that both the Department and residents are responsible for their ongoing maintenance and development of scholarly competence and effectiveness as urologists.

Career Development Reviews ensure that residents are made aware of their summative performance/progress on an annual basis and recognized for their achievements. It requires the Department Head, Program Director and Faculty to give feedback on performance and guidance to the resident to encourage their future positive growth and productivity.

Summative assessments are extremely important for both the Department and for resident, as they identify deficiencies and allow corrective formulation. Career Development Reviews in the later PG years includes information and direction to guide and prepare for subsequent career decisions including initiation of clinical practice or obtaining and facilitating fellowship and academic career formulation.

Guidelines of the Career Development Review

The Career Development Reviews must include the following aspects:

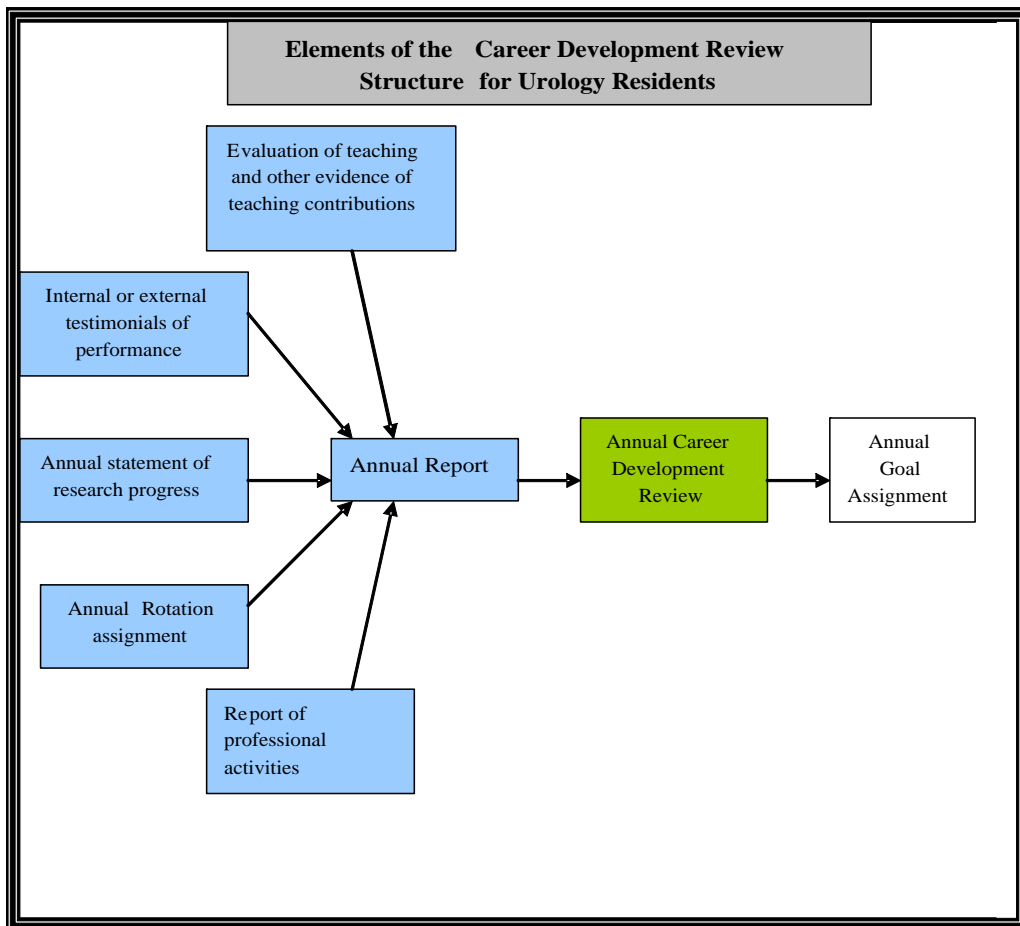

1. The Department Head is responsible for the conduct of Career Development Reviews.
2. Career Development Reviews will be conducted annually and will include a face-to-face meeting between the resident and the Department Head.
3. A written record of the annual Career Development Review will be given to the resident and will be kept on file.

Elements of the Career Development Review

The following items shall form the basic elements of the Career Development Review structure at Dalhousie University.

1. Resident's annual report and an updated CV.
2. Resident's statement of research activities.
3. Resident's report on professional activities within Dalhousie University.
4. Review of formal rotation evaluations.
5. Annual review of the resident's responsibilities and rotational needs reflective of the resident's career aspirations.
6. Identification of mentors within the Department.

EVENING WITH THE EXPERT

Grand Rounds is a regularly held event which serves as a departmental wide educational activity, which is supported by the Royal College of Canada, CME category 1 activity. It is meant to provide a forum on which to present interesting cases for discussion, by both staff urologists and residents. It is organized by the Chief Resident, as one of their administrative and manager roles. The format varies, but it is expected that presenters will provide a concise synopsis of a clinical scenario, with supportive investigations and diagnostic imaging aids. This will sometimes follow with a brief review of the topic, in a PowerPoint format.

OBJECTIVES:

- I. To present and discuss in detail the broad spectrum of clinical urological problems
- II. To discuss clinical scenarios in a question/answer format, in order to provide the opportunity for residents to experience the Royal College O.S.C.E. process
- III. Presentation and discussion of departmental research activities

CANMEDS ROLES:

Medical Expert, Communicator, Scholar, Manager, Health, Advocate

FREQUENCY & TIME:

The Chief Resident at the Victoria General Site will chair these sessions and will be responsible for case selection, which will include cases from all urological subspecialties. Residents/medical students will present cases and discussion will follow. Residents will be expected to state the clinical problems, analyze all pertinent laboratory and imaging tests and formulate treatment alternatives. When appropriate, a critical review of the current literature will be performed and presented in a concise manner.

Some sessions will include a clinical presentation by an assigned staff urologist. Each staff will do one presentation per year. Questions will be directed in a Royal College format to the senior residents in preparation for their final year exam.

When research rounds are held during this time slot, all research projects conducted in the Department will be presented and discussed for scientific merit and in order to gain critical feed back. Resident research projects will be evaluated periodically to ensure adequate progress.

SURGICAL SKILLS

CO-ORDINATOR: Dr. Andrea Lantz

PREAMBLE: Urologic surgical procedures are increasingly performed in a minimally invasive fashion. Laparoscopic surgery is rapidly becoming the preferred surgical modality for treating a variety of urologic conditions and has become the standard of care for some others. New developments in laparoscopic instruments and techniques have made the performance of these procedures easier, safer and faster. More than ever, surgical skills development is at the centre of residency training.

As many laparoscopic surgical procedures are past the pioneers' learning curve, knowledge transfer has become more systematic. Like any other surgical tasks, basic scientific knowledge and repetition of learned skills is fundamental to proficient surgical training. At our department we are fortunate to have access to two different surgical skills labs for residents and staff to master and maintain skills, both for minimally invasive, endoscopic and open surgical procedures.

These sessions are mandatory and the R1's and R2's are to make arrangements to attend when they are off-service if they are in the province.

FREQUENCY: 8 times yearly
Wednesdays, 1 pm to 4 pm

LOCATIONS: Atlantic Health Sciences Skills Centre, Bethune Building, Room B004
Dalhousie Medical School Anatomy Lab

UROLOGY SCHOOL

CO-ORDINATOR: Dr Ashley Cox

FREQUENCY: WEDNESDAYS

PLACE & TIME: Room 302, 5 Victoria - 1:00 to 4:30 pm

The concept of Urology School is premised on the idea that urology residents can learn a specific topic(s) under the guidance of an “expert” in a particular area urology, medicine, or related disciplines. The residents will play a major role in the delivery of the topic, but under the direction of a curriculum leader. The curriculum leader will be asked to define the topic(s) to be presented, the format of delivery, and the expectations of the participants. A set of clearly defined goals and objectives will be circulated to the participants in advance of the date of the Urology School.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES:

1. To review current key topics in Urology, under the guidance of a faculty urologist, or other educator.
2. To understand the pathophysiology of urologic conditions and disease process.
3. To systematically review recent and pertinent literature related to a topic.
4. To develop an approach to the workup and management of a urologic condition.
5. To use evidence-based medicine to support clinical practice.

CANMEDS ROLES:

Most of the CanMeds competencies will be taught and assessed during the urology school session. Examples of how this might be achieved include the following:

1. Medical Expert – review and delivery of topic
2. Communicator – effective delivery of topic with group discussion
3. Collaborator – staff and resident integration of information presented
4. Leader – the resident will learn how to effectively plan and deliver an educational program.
5. Scholar – Evidence based medicine and review. The resident will learn skills in teaching others, including peers, staff, and medical students.
6. Professional – certain topics will reflect medico-legal and ethical issues.
7. Health Advocate – discussing how the urologist can impact health promotion and disease prevention.

FORMAT:

Urology school is intended to provide residents, faculty urologists and other medical educators an opportunity to integrate all aspects of the CanMeds competencies into academic and clinical practice. This will be achieved by using evidence-based medicine to explore relevant topics in urology. It is expected that the assigned staff urologist will prepare an outline for his/her assigned Urology School Session and distribute them well in advance (at least two weeks) to the residents for adequate preparation. This activity will be lead by the urologist, but resident participation in the delivery of content is expected under the direction of the faculty.

The staff urologist is asked to provide an outline of the assigned Urology topic, with key textbook references and pertinent articles to be reviewed in advance of the date. The staff is expected to provide some sort of didactic presentation on the topic, unless more appropriately delivered in another format. Other appropriate components of Urology School include, but are not limited to:

- Journal article review (1-2 key articles)
- Case presentations
- Role playing
- Hands on surgical skills (including use of the surgical skills lab, urology lab)
- Video review
- Exam or Quiz

EVALUATION:

Each resident will be asked to complete an evaluation form at the completion of the session. The information will be collated by Paula Taylor, and submitted to the RTC and the presenting staff member.
