

The David Dougall Bursary

The David Dougall Bursary was established in 1977 in memory of David Dougall, a 2nd year Biology Major at the time of his death. The number of awards granted will be at the discretion of the committee. Please note the following conditions of this Bursary when considering whether you may be a suitable candidate to receive one of these bursaries. You will need to seek a letter of support from a faculty member who can provide information about you in addition to your academic standing. This is not a scholarship and although a respectable academic record would be assumed, the decisions will not be based on GPAs alone.

Taken verbatim from the original description of the Memorial:

"The intent of the Memorial is to provide assistance and encouragement to one or more selected student(s) majoring in Biology or Marine Biology probably entering third or fourth year.

"The award is meant as a motivational stimulus in that the very act of recognition may serve as an uplift; a personal gesture rather than an impersonal one. Consequently, the decision of "to whom and why" should be flexible and judgement exercised rather than vested in an impartial set of rules and regulations.

"The intent is that it be given to a "worthy" student(s), where worthy means a capable, responsible individual though not necessarily a top student(s), who will appreciate the recognition given to him/her through the award, and whom the award will materially assist financially in his/her need. Need should not necessarily mean that the recipient(s) has exhausted all other possible money sources.

"Among worthy students being considered, preference may be given to those who received their schooling at Halifax West High School, or alternatively, if no such person(s) exists in any year, at a Halifax metropolitan area school, Nova Scotia School, or Canadian school, in that order.

"In brief, the intent of the award is to assist one or more students whom the Biology Department wishes to encourage."
