

Here's what's happening in the

BASIN & RESERVOIR LAB

Professor Grant Wach

February 2019

Editor: Trudy Lewis (Trudy.lewis@dal.ca)

Petroleum Geoscience Field Methods Course (Trinidad) EARTH 4157

Students arrived at Pax Guesthouse in St. Augustine, Trinidad on February 16th to participate in the Petroleum Geoscience Field Methods Course again this year. "Emma" Xin Yue Hu, Research Assistant coordinated the course with Prof. Grant Wach. The credit course is in Trinidad each year during the Reading Week.

Professor Grant Wach and Dalhousie Adjunct Dr. Hasley Vincent (Heritage Energy) presented lectures at the University of West Indies for the series "Evolution of Stratigraphic Concepts in Trinidad". Grant spoke on the history of geoscience pioneers Dr. Hans Kugler and John Saunders, and Hasley lectured on "Trinidad Stratigraphy: then and now". The Team also went on a Drill Rig Visit which was coordinated by Touchstone.

Lectures

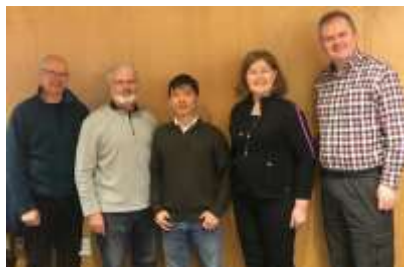

On Friday, March 8th, Dr. Grant Wach will deliver a lecture at St Mary's University entitled "Petroleum Systems and Source Rocks of Atlantic Canada. Prof. Wach will also deliver lectures at Dalhousie University, on March 14th, as well as the University of Jaen, Spain on March 19th and The Geological Survey of Canada on April 17.

M.Sc. Congratulations!

Congratulations from the Basin and Reservoir Lab to Thuy Vo, who successfully defended his Thesis entitled; Developing an Intelligent Drill Cutting Assessment for the Oil and Gas Drilling Industry: A Business Development Case Study. A job well done Thuy; wishing you much success in future endeavors!

EAGE EARTH 4131 / 5131 Competitions

Sarima Vahrenkamp; Ryan Taylor & Jen Lee

Two teams from the Department of Earth Sciences have made the semi finals of the EAGE Competitions; The Laurie Duke Challenge and the Minus CO2 Challenge.

Finalists will present their field plan to an expert jury during the 81st EAGE Conference & Exhibition on 2 June 2019 in London, UK .

GeoConvention—Calgary May 13—15

Prof. Wach and a number of Students & Alumni, from the Basin and Reservoir Lab, will travel to Calgary to present their work at the GeoConvention 2019, May 13th—15th.

Calgary Alumni Field Trip—May 11

On May 11th there will be an Alumni

Field Trip followed by a fondue dinner at the Grizzly House, Banff.

Calgary Alumni Pub Night—May 12

There will be an Alumni and Friends of Dal Pub Night, on May 12, at the Palomino Smoke House in Calgary.