Department of Economics ECON 3600 Fall 2025

Dalhousie University operates in the unceded territories of the Mi'kmaw, Wolastoqey, and Peskotomuhkati Peoples. These sovereign nations hold inherent rights as the original peoples of these lands, and we each carry collective obligations under the Peace and Friendship Treaties. Section 35 of the Constitution Act, 1982, recognizes and affirms Aboriginal and Treaty rights in Canada.

We recognize that African Nova Scotians are a distinct people whose histories, legacies, and contributions have enriched the part of Mi'kma'ki known as Nova Scotia for over 400 years.

Course Description

Many economic questions (such as price competition, tax policy, research and development decision, bargaining) can be interpreted as games, in which each player's action affects payoffs of other players. The students learn how to recognize various strategic interactions in economics, and how to evaluate the outcomes of such interactions.

Course Prerequisites

ECON 2200.03 (or ECON 2210.03 or ECON 2220.03), MATH 1000.03 or equivalent with minimum grades of C.

Course Structure

Course Delivery: In-person lectures. The lectures will not be recorded.

Lectures: Monday and Wednesday 10:05-11:25 am MCCAIN ARTS&SS 2190

Course Materials

Required text: "Strategy" by J. Watson (W.W. Norton 2013, 3rd edition)

https://bookstore.dal.ca/CourseSearch/?course[]=SUB,202610,ECON,ECON3600,01

The 2nd edition of the textbook is also acceptable.

Additional reading materials will be posted on Brightspace or distributed in class. Please check regularly the course page on Brightspace for course announcements and assignments.

Other useful textbooks (on reserve in Killam library):

"An Introduction to Game Theory" by M. Osborne (Oxford University Press, 2004): more advanced mathematical treatment of game theory

"A Course in Microeconomic Theory" by D. Kreps (Princeton University Press, 1990): graduate textbook

"Games of Strategy" by A. Dixit, S. Skeath, and D. Reiley (W.W. Norton, 3rd edition, 2009): detailed non-technical explanations

"Thinking Strategically" by A. Dixit and B. Nalebuff (W.W. Norton, 1991): informal introduction to game theory

"Behavioral Game Theory: experiments in strategic interaction" by C. Camerer (Princeton University Press, 2003): discussion of numerous experiments in game theory

Assessment

Component	Weight, % of final grade	Date
4 assignments	20%	to be determined
Midterm	30% (80 min, in person)	in class, 5 November 2025 (tentative)
Final exam	50% (3 hrs, in person)	scheduled exam period

The midterm questions will include extensive and normal forms, dominance and Nash equilibrium, subgame perfect equilibrium, and mixed strategies.

The final exam is cumulative.

Conversion of numerical grades to final letter grades follows the Dalho

A+ (90-100)	B+ (77-79)	C+ (65-69)	D (50-54)
A (85-89)	B (73-76)	C (60-64)	F (0-49)
A- (80-84)	B- (70-72)	C- (55-59)

Course Policies on Missed or Late Academic Requirements

If a student misses the midterm for a valid reason, the student must notify the instructor by email prior to the date and time of the exam. In this case, the final exam will count for 80% of the final grade.

If a student cannot submit an assignment on time, the student must contact the instructor prior to the assignment deadline to discuss alternative arrangements. Please note that late submissions will not be accepted once the solutions are posted on Brightspace by the instructor.

If a student misses the final exam for a valid reason, the student must notify the instructor immediately and provide the appropriate documentation. The student will have an opportunity to write a make-up final exam.

Course Policies related to Academic Integrity

The students are not allowed to collaborate on the assignments and exams. The full text of Dalhousie's Policy on Intellectual Honesty and Faculty Discipline Procedures is available here:

Learning Objectives

In this course we analyze different types of competitive and cooperative behaviour of economic agents. Lectures focus on noncooperative static and dynamic games. The ideas are illustrated using examples from microeconomics and labour economics. Students will learn how to apply such concepts as dominance solutions, Nash equilibrium, randomization, subgame perfect equilibrium, repeated game strategies, and signaling. Problem-based learning is an important part of this course.

Course Content (tentative)

- 1. Extensive and normal forms: Ch. 1 5
- 2. Dominance and Nash equilibrium: Ch. 6 10
- 3. Subgame perfect equilibrium in dynamic games: Ch. 14 16
- 4. Mixed strategies: Ch. 4, 11
- 5. Bargaining: Ch. 18 19
- 6. Repeated games: Ch. 22
- 7. Games with incomplete information (Bayesian Nash equilibrium, perfect Bayesian equilibrium): Ch. 24 29
- 8. Bounded rationality (based on papers by D. Kahneman and A. Tversky)

Conduct in the Classroom – Culture of Respect

Substantial and constructive dialogue on challenging issues is an important part of academic inquiry and exchange. It requires willingness to listen and tolerance of opposing points of view. Consideration of individual differences and alternative viewpoints is required of all class members, towards each other, towards instructors, and towards guest speakers. While expressions of differing perspectives are welcome and encouraged, the words and language used should remain within acceptable bounds of civility and respect.

Diversity and Inclusion – Culture of Respect

Every person at Dalhousie has a right to be respected and safe. We believe inclusiveness is fundamental to education. We stand for equality. Dalhousie is strengthened in our diversity. We are a respectful and inclusive community. We are committed to being a place where everyone feels welcome and supported, which is why our Strategic Direction prioritizes fostering a culture of diversity and inclusiveness (Strategic Priority 5.2). Everyone at Dalhousie is expected to treat others with dignity and respect. The Code of Student Conduct allows Dalhousie to take disciplinary action if students don't follow this community expectation. When appropriate, violations of the code can be resolved in a reasonable and informal manner - perhaps through a restorative justice process. If an informal resolution can't be reached, or would be inappropriate, procedures exist for formal dispute resolution. The full Code of Student Conduct can be found at:
