Dalhousie
FEMINIST SEMINAR SERIES

2020/21 SCHEDULE

Lynn Jones | Archiving as a Means of Liberation
OCTOBER 23 2020, 12-1pm

Marquita Smith | [Black] Bodies Remember: Black Women Writers and Strategies of Survival
NOVEMBER 13 2020, 12-1pm

Natashe Lemos Dekker | Foreclosing futures: prevention and policy regulations in dementia care
DECEMBER 4 2020, 12-1pm

Lisa Binkley | Re-Viewing a 1960s Mi’kmaq Ribbon Skirt: Reclamation, Resilience, Resistance
JANUARY 22 2021, 12-1pm

Stephanie Fearon | Let me tell you a story: Black women's motherwork as educational leadership
FEBRUARY 19, 2021, 12-1pm

Mariana Assis | Rethinking reproductive rights and health from the feminist paradigm of social reproduction: A territorialized analysis of bodies and livelihoods
MARCH 5 2021, 12-1pm

Tasia Alexopoulos | Scorpionflies, Bed bugs, and Ducks: Exploring Polygamy and Sexual Violence in Canadian Legal Policy
MARCH 26 2021, 12-1pm

Dalhousie University occupies the ancestral and unceded territory of the Mi’kmaq People