

DALHOUSIE THESIS LICENCE AGREEMENT

In consideration of Dalhousie University (Dalhousie) agreeing to publish your thesis or dissertation, for which the degree is established below (the "Thesis") in electronic format, in microform or in both as well as for the making available of the Thesis via interlibrary loan as well as in-library use you agree as follows:

1. You hereby grant to Dalhousie a non-exclusive, worldwide, irrevocable, royalty free license to reproduce, convert, publish, archive, communicate and distribute the Thesis, including descriptive information, metadata and the Thesis abstract, in any format and in any medium for non-commercial purposes for the full term of the copyright, including but not limited to the right to:
 - a. transmit the Thesis to the public by telecommunication, including via the Internet and facsimile transmission;
 - b. publish the Thesis electronically on the Internet;
 - c. distribute the Thesis through the library, interlibrary and public loan;
 - d. digitize, photocopy and microfiche the Thesis; and
 - e. sub-license or assign any of the rights granted above or otherwise authorize third parties to perform such acts on Dalhousie's behalf.

2. You confirm the following statements to be true and accurate:
 - a. you have the right and authority to grant the rights set out in this license;
 - b. the Thesis is your original work and is an un-amended copy of the final version approved by your Committee;
 - c. the Thesis does not infringe the copyright or other intellectual property rights of any other person;
 - d. if the Thesis contains material to which you do not hold copyright and is not in the public domain, then one or both of the following apply (in addition to the material being clearly and appropriately identified and acknowledged):
 - i. each use of such copyrighted material complies with the "fair dealing" provisions of the Copyright Act (Canada); and
 - ii. you have obtained and retained in your files a copy of the written permission of the copyright owner(s) to include the work (or part thereof, as the case may be) in your Thesis and to grant to Dalhousie the rights set out in this license;
 - e. the Thesis does not contain any confidential or proprietary information belonging to others, other than information included under Section 2 subsection d, ii;
 - f. the Thesis does not contain any libelous or other unlawful matter and does not invade the privacy of any persons;
 - g. there are no unexpired publication delays on the distribution of the Thesis; and
 - h. the information you provide herein about the Thesis is accurate.

3. By signing this agreement you acknowledge and are aware that you retain your copyright ownership and moral rights in the Thesis, and may deal with the copyright in the Thesis in any way consistent with rights granted to Dalhousie in this License. You promise to inform any person to whom you may hereafter assign or license the copyright in the Thesis of the rights granted to Dalhousie in this License. You agree that Dalhousie is not responsible for any misuse of the Thesis by third parties who access the Thesis through Dalhousie's facilities.
