

DALHOUSIE UNIVERSITY

SCHULICH SCHOOL OF LAW

SCHULICH SCHOOL OF LAW
DALHOUSIE UNIVERSITY

The Schulich School of Law, Dalhousie University, invites applications for two probationary tenure-track, tenure-track or tenured appointments at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor, to commence July 1, 2022 in the areas of Torts; Business Law (broadly defined, but applicants should have an interest in teaching fundamental corporate and commercial law courses); Law and Technology (with complementary interests in intellectual property, cybersecurity, data protection, and related ethical and regulatory issues). We are especially interested in applications from scholars who have research and teaching interests in more than one of these areas and whose work would otherwise advance the Law School's research and teaching priorities, including the work of our Marine and Environmental Law Institute and our Law and Technology Institute.

Dalhousie University and the Schulich School of Law are committed to fostering a collegial culture grounded in diversity and inclusiveness. We encourage applications from Indigenous persons, persons with a disability, racially visible persons, women, persons of a minority sexual orientation and/or gender identity, and all candidates who would contribute to the diversity of our community. For more information, please visit <https://www.dal.ca/hringfordiversity>.

Applicants should have an outstanding academic record, a record of scholarly engagement, and demonstrated (or potential) teaching and research excellence. At the time of appointment, the successful candidate will hold an LL.B. or J.D. degree and is expected to have a relevant Master's degree or a doctorate (completed or in progress).

The deadline for applications is September 30, 2021.

About the Schulich School of Law

We are a vibrant, collegial, and close-knit community of faculty and students from around the world. We live the Weldon Tradition of unselfish public service – of giving back and making the world a better place. The Schulich School of Law plays an extraordinary role in Canadian and international legal education. We are a national law school with an international reputation. We draw talented students from every region of the country and from around the world into our JD, combined JD/Masters, LLM, and PhD programs. We graduate leaders. Our alumni hold every form of government office, teach in law schools, innovate in the provision of private and public sector legal services and in business, advance policy in the executive branch of governments, render decisions on courts across the country, and offer service to non-governmental bodies and non-profit and community organizations.

We embrace the interdisciplinary opportunity of working in a university, we value the creation and dissemination of new knowledge, and we are firmly committed to students and to teaching and learning excellence. We are conscious of the difference we make to law reform, adjudication, legal service, and community engagement at home and around the world. We value the contributions of the founding communities in this province, the Mi'kmaq Nation, Acadians, African Nova Scotians, and British, and we open our doors to the world.

For more information about our law school community, see <https://www.dal.ca/faculty/law.html>, and for the Schulich School of Law Strategic Plan, see <https://www.dal.ca/faculty/law/about/strategic-directions-2017-2021.html>.

How to Apply

Applications should include a resume, university transcripts, separate teaching and research statement (maximum five pages total), and the names of three referees, at least two of whom must be academic referees. If a candidate's graduate degree is in progress, then in their cover letter they should indicate their stage of completion. Applications should be submitted online at: <https://dal.peopleadmin.ca/postings/7315>.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

<http://law.dal.ca>