Introduction

The aim of this course is to explore the many dynamics of conflict that affect children globally. The course will take both a thematic and case study approach. Currently, conflicts that occur are most often intra-state conflicts. The victims of such conflicts are disproportionately women and children. At the same time, the demographics of many of the most war-torn societies, has led to increasing numbers of children being involved in the conflict. This course will aim to explore various aspects related to children and war. On the one hand the course will discuss the effects of war on children. However, it will also discuss the involvement of children in the participation of war. In addition, what are the responsibilities of the International Community to protect and support children of war? What can we learn from the children that have survived in terms of their agency and resilience? What preventative measures can be taken to better ensure children do not fall victims to armed conflict? The course will also explore aspects of culture and its effects on solutions to the dynamics of children and war. In addition, students will learn about various types of child exploitation that make children vulnerable across the peace and wartime spectrum.

Pedagogy

This course will be taught through various formats. Lectures will take place and seminar style format will also be utilized. Students will be expected to discuss readings. Videos will also be used to highlight issues. Guest speakers will also be brought in to the classes. Students will partake in projects from day one of the course, missing classes will not be permitted without permission from the instructor.

10. July 15– Group Presentations

All Day is reserved for the final group presentations. All students are expected to attend.

Course Requirements

*Please Note the Additional Requirements for INTD 5004 students.

1. Group Presentation – 30%

Students will be divided into groups of 4-5 people for group presentations. These presentations will take place on the last day of class and shall be no longer than 20 minutes each. Each group is required to create a relational diagram for children and armed conflict. The specific subject matter chosen for such a diagram is open – it could be a country study example, a specific topic such as child soldiers, child labour, or one related to DDR, development, security, or impunity. Students should use a powerpoint presentation and be creative with multi-media.

INTD 5004 and POLI 5602 students will be required to conduct these presentations in graduate level groups as well as provide a two page written analysis to accompany the presentation.

2. Policy Paper Briefing Note – 25%

The policy paper briefing is meant to be a document addressed to a specific agency, government, or international body that should be concerned with the treatment of children in war. The aim of the paper is to highlight a key issue related to children and war that is overlooked, underfunded, not researched significantly, or lacks political will and to bring it to the attention of those that should be addressing the issue you choose. This policy paper is due on the 17th of August. It should be no longer than 4 pages in length. Ensure you properly reference your paper and create a bibliography. The paper is to be to the point, concise and must give concrete recommendations.

3. Class Participation and Attendance – 15%

All students are expected to attend all classes. Students will be assessed on their willingness to contribute meaningfully to class discussions and to present readings.

INTD 5004/POLI 5602 students will be required to present readings and lead class discussion sessions to account for 10% of the 15%.

4. Fact Sheet - 30%

All students are asked to create a two page fact sheet related to Children and Armed Conflict. Students should ensure a bibliography is attached at the end of the fact sheet. The sheet should be written in bullet format and must be written in language that can be easily understood by those who do not understand the issues. The broad topic headings can be one of the following:

- a. Country Fact Sheet related to children and armed conflict
- b. Links between peacetime/wartime use of children
- c. Non-State Armed Group that uses Children
- d. Recruitment techniques

Due Date: July 14th.

Course Expectations

All students are expected to hand their assignments in on time, late penalties of 10% per day reductions will be enforced. Students are also expected to adhere to the Dalhousie University rules and regulations regarding academic integrity. Plagiarism will be punished according to the regulations. Students are expected to come to class prepared and ready to discuss current affairs and topics that pertain to the class. Everyone in the classroom is expected to treat the subject matter and each other with respect. Group assignments are to be taken seriously and evaluations of individual members will take place on the final day of class, those who do not take this responsibility seriously will be penalized.
