Course Description

POLI 3206 is an overview of Canada’s constitutional, legal, and political orders, highlighting the importance of federalism and the Constitution on Canadian political institutions. The course will examine the branches of government, the legal frameworks that underpin federalism, and the importance of constitutional conventions and judicial review. While largely focused on the federal level, the course will include the complicated negotiations between federal and provincial governments, treaty federalism and nation-to-nation negotiations, and the evolution of electoral and governmental systems.

Arranged thematically, the course will take a historical approach to understanding politics, emphasizing the origins and evolution of Canadian constitutional law and politics, and the interactions between politicians, the state, the Supreme Court, and the citizenry. At the same time, students are encouraged to reflect on the ongoing relevance of these issues — how contemporary issues reproduce or break from historical precedents. While the course will stress political institutions, students are encouraged to consider how politics are culturally informed, investigating how political cultures draw from and contribute to ideas about race, class, and gender.

The class is scheduled as two 80-minute lectures per week. The second class each week will include a discussion of assigned readings. Students are invited to bring their own analyses and interests regarding the assigned readings. Participation marks will be awarded, in part, based on active and constructive contribution to the discussions.
Course Objectives

Students will be able to identify and explain the roles of the different branches of the Canadian government. Students will develop a familiarity with importance of the Constitution and the Charter of Rights and Freedoms, federalism, the electoral system, judicial review, and constitutional interpretation. Students will be introduced to a wide range of literature and approaches to examine politics.

Readings

The required textbook for the course is: Andrew Heard, Canadian Constitutional Conventions: The Marriage of Law and Politics (Don Mills, Ontario: Oxford University Press Canada, 2014).

All other required readings will be available online, either posted on or linked from the class Brightspace.

Note: Required course content and information is housed on this course’s Brightspace, including supplementary readings, discussions, and media content NOT listed below. Students are required to access this content.

If you have any problems accessing the posted material, please let me know immediately.

Assignments and Evaluation

Participation 10%
Reading Response 15%
In-class Test 10%
Annotated Bibliography 10%
Research Essay 30%
Take-Home Exam 25%

Participation (10%)
Students are encouraged to attend the regular lectures and participate in class discussions. The participation grade will be based on a combination of active and positive contribution to the class, and the student’s critical engagement with the course themes and readings. While speaking in class is one way to participate, it is not the only consideration. Emailing questions, coming to office hours, and responding to feedback on assignments are all part of actively participating in the course.

Critical Reading Response (15%) Due: January 31
This assignment (3-4 pages) is a critical response to assigned readings. Detailed instructions will be provided in class and posted on Brightspace.

In-class Test (10%) February 14
This test will be comprised of short identification questions. It will cover terms and concepts from the both the readings and the lectures.

Annotated Bibliography (10%) Due: March 7
This assignment is the first step for your research essay on a selected topic from the list provided on the course Brightspace. You will need to write a short introduction to your bibliography, identify three research questions that help you define your topic, and then provide a short annotation for each source that explains how it answers one or more of the questions you identified. Students must engage with five scholarly sources. Detailed instructions and the list of topics will be provided in

Research Essay (30%) Due: April 4
This assignment (10-12 pages) is a research paper on an issue in Canadian politics and government. Students must engage with at least eight sources, at least five of which must be scholarly. Detailed instructions and a list of suggested topics will be provided in class.

Take-Home Exam (25%)  April TBA
The term’s final exam will test students’ understanding of course material as a whole.

All assignments must be double-spaced and in 12pt., Times New Roman font. Sources should be cited consistently and thoroughly, following the student’s preferred style guide.

Late Penalty and Deadlines

Late assignments will be deducted one letter grade per day (i.e. A to A-, A- to B+, etc.).

Students requesting special consideration for an assignment or an examination must do so in advance of the relevant deadline. Except in the case of an exceptional documented emergency, no extensions will be granted in the 24 hours before an assignment is due.

Missed or Late Academic Requirements due to Student Absence

Dalhousie students are asked to take responsibility for their own short-term absences (3 days or less) by contacting their instructor by phone or email prior to the academic requirement deadline or scheduled time and by submitting a completed Student Declaration of Absence to their instructor in case of missed or late academic requirements. Only 2 separate Student Declaration of Absence forms may be submitted per course during a term (Note: faculty, college, school, instructor or course-specific guidelines may set a lower maximum).

University Policies, Statements, Guidelines, and Resources for Support

This course is governed by the academic rules and regulations set forth in the University Calendar and the Senate:

Academic Integrity Statement

At Dalhousie University, we are guided in all of our work by the values of academic integrity: honesty, trust, fairness, responsibility and respect (The Center for Academic Integrity, Duke University, 1999). As a student, you are required to demonstrate these values in all of the work you do. The University provides policies and procedures that every member of the university community is required to follow to ensure academic integrity.

Accessibility Statement

The Advising and Access Services Centre is Dalhousie's centre of expertise for student accessibility and accommodation. The advising team works with students who request accommodation as a result of: a disability, religious obligation, or any barrier related to any other characteristic protected under Human Rights legislation (NS, NB, PEI, NFLD).

Class Conduct

Everyone at Dalhousie is expected to treat others with dignity and respect. The Code of Student Conduct allows Dalhousie to take disciplinary action if students don’t follow this community expectation. When appropriate, violations of the code can be resolved in a reasonable and informal manner — perhaps through a restorative justice process. If an informal resolution can’t be reached, or would be inappropriate, procedures exist for formal dispute resolution.

Students are expected to behave in a civil manner during lectures and discussion groups, though vigorous discussion and conflicting opinions are very welcome. Personal attacks, disrespectful comments, or sexist, racist, homophobic, transphobic, ableist, or other discriminatory remarks will not be tolerated. Students can be expelled from discussion groups or lectures if their behaviour is deemed to be disruptive or inhibits the ability of others to learn.

As a courtesy to other students and the instructor, please turn off all electronic devices other than those used for taking notes, and in all cases, please put devices on silent mode. The use of electronic devices for activities other than taking class notes is very disruptive to others. Out of respect, please save these activities for outside of class.

Diversity and Inclusion – Culture of Respect

Every person at Dalhousie has a right to be respected and safe. We believe inclusiveness is fundamental to education. We stand for equality. Dalhousie is strengthened in our diversity. We are a respectful and inclusive community. We are committed to being a place where everyone feels welcome and supported, which is why our Strategic Direction prioritizes fostering a culture of diversity and inclusiveness (Strategic Priority 5.2).
