APPROACHES TO DEVELOPMENT

Friday 11.35-2.25

Instructor: Peter Arthur

phone: 494-6630

e-mail: parthur@dal.ca

Office Hours: Tuesdays 11.35am-1.35pm, or by appointment

This class offers a critical overview of the state of development studies and comparative politics (broadly understood) in “developing countries” or the “South” for students in the social sciences. It is designed to appeal to a range of disciplines and interests and to aid in graduate research. Given the eclectic nature of the field, it is broad in scope but with a focus on political economy. This seminar course is also designed to relate to “extra-curricular” development education, and serves as one of the central classes in the graduate programmes in Political Science and International Development Studies at Dalhousie.

Content

The seminar is intended to provide an overview of approaches to, and issues and actors in, the field of (under)development studies. Analyses of “development” have undergone major changes over the past couple of decades as i) development in much of the erstwhile “Third World” has proven elusive, while in other parts (e.g. “the BRICS”) growth and influence has accelerated; ii) the world economy has undergone profound processes of structural change (often referred to as Globalization) and more recently, protracted and far-reaching crisis; and iii) global politics has transited from the relative stability of post-Second World War bipolarity into a new era of fluidity, diversity and uncertainty. The seminar schedule includes a section on the history of the idea of “development” and development theories, and the nature of the contemporary global changes that condition opportunities for development; a section on core actors in contemporary development, including the state (in its various forms), international organizations and “global governance”, NGOs and civil society, and Transnational Corporations (TNCs); and a section on critical issues in development, such as the role of women/gender, security and “peacebuilding”, the environment and sustainable development, and governance and democratization.

Structure

Attendance & participation; Seminar Presentation & Position Paper

The course is organized around a weekly seminar. Given the centrality of this meeting, all participants are expected to attend, to complete the assigned readings, and to contribute to discussions. In addition, each participant will prepare and present a seminar “position paper” on one of the topics under discussion by the class. The presentations should be brief and succinct - no more than 20 minutes – and where there is more than one presentation, should be closely coordinated with other presenters on the topic. The use of handouts, PowerPoints, and/or videos to enhance these oral presentations is encouraged but not required. The presentation should involve identifying the key issues that deserve discussion, preferably in the form of questions that can generate debate and reflection. Additionally, the presentation and the accompanying paper that is due on date of presentation requires an awareness and knowledge of the main argument of the author(s), and a brief assessment of the strengths and weaknesses of the author (s') central argument or concepts. Comment here on whether the author(s') evidence really supports what they set out to do and their conclusions. Say why you agree or disagree with their argument and conclusions, drawing on questions and issues that have been raised in other readings, lectures, and/or discussions from the course.

Article Review

In addition to the seminar presentation paper referred to above (approximately 5 pages in length), there will be a book/article review assignment (maximum 6 pages graduates; 4 pages for undergraduates) at the mid-point of the course (due Friday, 15 February 2019). The review paper must focus on any of the substantive topics discussed by 15th Feb. 2019. In the review, you would be expected to select any two required readings, identify the central questions, main points, concepts and compare and contrast between the different points and arguments made. Rather than analyzing all the ideas that the authors present, you should focus in depth on one or two significant questions. Keep in mind that the review paper is not the same as a summary. A good synthesis of a text requires an awareness and knowledge of the author's style of thinking, not just the facts that are presented to support an argument.

Term Paper

Finally, there is a term paper on a set topic. The deadline for submission of term papers is Friday, 5 April 2019. Late papers will be penalized. The paper topics, chosen after consulting the instructor, should be no more than 15 typed double-spaced pages for graduates and 10 typed double-spaced pages for undergraduates, and presented in proper academic style, with bibliography, notes, subheadings, etc.

The grade for the course will be arrived at approximately as follows:

seminar paper/presentation	20%
book/article review	20% (Due 15 th Feb. 2019)
class attendance & participation	15%
term paper	45% (Due 5 th April 2019)

Late papers will be penalised 2% per working day.

The grading thresholds are as follows for graduate students:

90-100 = A+	77-79 = B+	85-89 = A	73-76 = B
80-84 = A-	70-72 = B-	Below 70 = F

The grading thresholds are as follows for undergraduates:

90-100 = A+	77-79 = B+	65-69 = C+	50-54 = D
85-89 = A	73-76 = B	60-64 = C	below 50 = F
80-84 = A-	70-72 = B-	55-59 = C-

Please note that the deadline by which a student may withdraw without a 'W' is 4th Feb. 2019, and March 11th, 2019 with a 'W'.

Assigned Readings

The required text for the course is Anthony Payne and Nicola Phillips, Development (Polity 2010). It is available from the Dalhousie bookstore. All other required readings will be available electronically through the Killam Library.

Academic Integrity

http://www.dal.ca/dept/university_secretariat/academic-integrity.html

At Dalhousie University, we are guided in all of our work by the values of academic integrity: honesty, trust, fairness, responsibility and respect (The Center for Academic Integrity, Duke University, 1999). As a student, you are required to demonstrate these values in all of the work you do. The University provides policies and procedures that every member of the university community is required to follow to ensure academic integrity.

Students are reminded that plagiarism (handing in another person's work as one's own or exact copying of the words of another author without attribution), submitting the same essay to more than 1 course, and close paraphrasing (reliance on a source with only minor alterations in wording) are unacceptable. Any paper submitted by a student may be checked for originality to confirm that the student has not plagiarized from other sources. Plagiarism is considered a serious academic offence which may lead to loss of credit, suspension or expulsion from the University, or even the revocation of a degree. It is essential that there be correct attribution of authorities from which facts and opinions have been derived. At Dalhousie, there are University Regulations which deal with plagiarism and, prior to submitting any paper in a course, students should read the Policy on Intellectual Honesty contained in the Calendar or on the Dal web at: (read more:

• Accessibility

The Advising and Access Services Centre is Dalhousie's Centre of expertise for student accessibility and accommodation. The advising team works with students who request accommodation as a result of: a disability, religious obligation, or any barrier related to any other characteristic protected under Human Rights legislation (NS, NB, PEI, NFLD).

Students who require academic accommodation for either classroom participation or the writing of tests and exams should make their request to the Office of Student Accessibility & Accommodation (OSAA) prior to or at the outset of the term. Please see www.studentaccessibility.dal.ca for more information and to obtain the Request for Accommodation – Form A. A note taker may be required to assist a classmate. There is an honorarium of $75/course/term. If you are interested, please contact OSAA at 494-2836 for more information. Please note that your classroom may contain specialized accessible furniture and equipment. It is important that these items remain in the classroom so that students who require their usage will be able to participate in the class.

• Student Code of Conduct

Everyone at Dalhousie is expected to treat others with dignity and respect. The Code of Student Conduct allows Dalhousie to take disciplinary action if students don't follow this community expectation. When appropriate, violations of the code can be resolved in a reasonable and informal manner—perhaps through a restorative justice process. If an informal resolution can't be reached, or would be inappropriate, procedures exist for formal dispute resolution. (read more:

Diversity and Inclusion – Culture of Respect

Every person at Dalhousie has a right to be respected and safe. We believe inclusiveness is fundamental to education. We stand for equality. Dalhousie is strengthened in our diversity. We are a respectful and inclusive community. We are committed to being a place where everyone feels welcome and supported, which is why our Strategic Direction prioritizes fostering a culture of diversity and inclusiveness (Strategic Priority 5.2).
