Department of Political Science
POLL 4505 / Human Rights: Legal Issues
Winter 2019

Section 01, Tues, Thurs, 17:35 – 18:55, 0.5 Credits.
Life Sciences Center, Common Area, C236

Instructor: Dr. Matthew MacLellan
E-mail: matt.s.maclellan@gmail.com
Office and Office Hours: Rm. 352, Henry Hicks Building, 16:25-17:25.

Prerequisites: Previous third year course work in Political Science or Law, Justice and Society

Course Description:

This seminar-style (face-to-face) course focuses on the legal issues and debates involved in the development and enforcement of contemporary domestic and international human rights. After briefly examining the genesis of the modern notion of human rights (including some of its foremost critics), students will learn about the changing legal status of international human rights treaties and conventions and become familiar with the various international treaty bodies, courts, tribunals, and the implications of their decisions and recommendations in domestic contexts, through an analysis of some of the prominent issues and controversies pertaining to human rights today.

Required Course Texts:

Additional Readings will be posted on Brightspace.
COURSE EVALUATION:

Participation ........................................ 15%

Book Review ....................................... 15%

Class Presentation ............................... 20%

Research Essay ................................. 25%

Final Test ........................................ 25%

Participation (15%):

POLI 4505 is a combination of lecture and course discussions, and the course will conducted with the expectation that students attend classes having read all assigned materials in advance and are prepared to discuss materials. If students wish to enhance their participation mark, they must be prepared to share their views and questions on current events in class. If you cannot attend class, you must inform the instructor by e-mail and state the reason why.

Book Review (15%):

Each student will write a brief book review of Lynn Hunt’s Inventing Human Rights (approx. 5 pages). These reviews should assess the strengths and weakness of Hunt’s analysis, and suggest how Hunt’s account contributes to our contemporary understanding of human rights. See the more detailed Book Review Outline on Brightspace.

Class Presentation (20%):

Each student will be responsible for presenting on one of the assigned chapters from Human Rights: Current Issues and Controversies. The presentation must include a summary of the reading that highlights important aspects for further discussion in class, as well as a number of questions designed to generate class discussion. The presenter will be responsible for guiding subsequent discussion. The presentation should be approx. 30-40 minutes, and students will be assessed based on their analytical skill, presentation competence, and maturity in grasping and presenting the material. A more detailed presentation will be posted on Brightspace.

Research Essay (25%):

Each student will write an 8-10 page research essay on one of the chapter topics covered in Human Rights: Contemporary Issues and Controversies. In addition to drawing on outside research material to supplement course content, this research essay is also an argumentative essay, meaning students must take an argumentative position on the topic they choose. For more detail, see Research Essay Outline on Brightspace.

Final Test (25%):

The final course test will be a take-home test that will cover all course readings as well as course lectures and discussions.

Grading

Letter grades will be assigned as outlined in the 2018-2019 Dalhousie University Academic Calendar. Plus and minus grades are included within these categories:

General Course Rules

- Cells phones and other communications devices are not to be used in class and should be turned off prior to entering the classroom. Texting in class is distracting to others. Lap tops are NOT to be used for web browsing, messaging, entertainment, paper-writing for other classes, or for any purpose other than to learn the material in this class. If you distract the Instructor or fellow students with your lap top, you may be asked to leave the class.

- To encourage open and more engaging discussions, students are encouraged to freely share their opinions and also be receptive to hearing other viewpoints. If you have a view on an issue that is counter to that of another class member or the instructor, you may challenge or critique the viewpoint but not the individual: respectful professional behavior is demanded at all times.

- Questions relating to assignments, class attendance or other issues may be emailed and responses can normally be expected within 24 hours after receipt. Please do not email an urgent question within 24 hours of an exam or assignment deadline.

- The course lectures are not being recorded, though students are free to do so.

- All assignments must be passed in on time. Late assignments will only be excepted under extraordinary circumstances (see instructor for help in such instances).

- All assignments must be completed to received a final grade.
Plagiarism and Intellectual Honesty

All universities, Dalhousie included, consider it a serious matter to present the work of someone else in such a way as to give one’s reader reason to think it to be one’s own. This is called plagiarism and is a form of intellectual dishonesty. If plagiarism is suspected, the matter must go immediately to the University Senate for adjudication and the imposition of an appropriate penalty, which may involve forfeiture of credit for the course or even outright dismissal from the University.

University Statements

Academic Integrity

At Dalhousie University, we are guided in all of our work by the values of academic integrity: honesty, trust, fairness, responsibility and respect (The Center for Academic Integrity, Duke University, 1999). As a student, you are required to demonstrate these values in all of the work you do. The University provides policies and procedures that every member of the university community is required to follow to ensure academic integrity. Click here to read more.

Accessibility

The Advising and Access Services Centre is Dalhousie's centre of expertise for student accessibility and accommodation. The advising team works with students who request accommodation as a result of: a disability, religious obligation, or any barrier related to any other characteristic protected under Human Rights legislation (NS, NB, PEI, NFLD). Click here to read more.

Student Code of Conduct

Everyone at Dalhousie is expected to treat others with dignity and respect. The Code of Student Conduct allows Dalhousie to take disciplinary action if students don't follow this community expectation. When appropriate, violations of the code can be resolved in a reasonable and informal manner—perhaps through a restorative justice process. If an informal resolution can't be reached, or would be inappropriate, procedures exist for formal dispute resolution. Click here to read more.

Diversity and Inclusion – Culture of Respect

Every person at Dalhousie has a right to be respected and safe. We believe inclusiveness is fundamental to education. We stand for equality. Dalhousie is strengthened in our diversity. We are a respectful and inclusive community. We are committed to being a place where everyone feels welcome and supported, which is why our Strategic Direction prioritizes fostering a culture of diversity and inclusiveness (Strategic Priority 5.2). Recognition of Mi'kmaq Territory

Dalhousie University would like to acknowledge that the University is on Traditional Mi'kmaq Territory. The Elders in Residence program provides students with access to First Nations elders for guidance, counsel and support. Visit the office in the McCain Building (room 3037) or contact the programs at elders@dal.ca or 902-494-6803 (leave a message).
