COURSE OVERVIEW

The goal of this course is to help students understand the history, operation, and driving philosophical assumptions of the United Nations, through a combination of traditional (reading, writing, and lecture/seminars) and simulation-based learning. The course will be especially helpful for those students wishing to participate in various Model UN conferences, however participation in the Model UN outside of the class is NOT a course requirement.

The course will introduce students to the politics of UN voting practices of various countries and the relationships between domestic politics, international politics and UN voting records. It will also enable students to understand the internal dynamics of the UN General Assembly and committee systems, how UN meetings operate, and the professional skills involved in drafting and negotiating the text of resolutions. Finally, the course will provide students with the opportunity to learn about the political issues that influence the positions at the UN of various countries, and about committee issues under debate at the UN.

The first section of the class provides an overview of the United Nations and Model UN systems. It introduces the institutional framework of the UN system, discusses some of the major issues on the contemporary UN agenda and covers some Model UN rules of procedure and offers practical information about how to draft Model UN resolutions. The second section is set up as a series of seminars around key issues, followed by simulations. In preparation for the seminars, students will prepare a short written response on assigned reading. The heavier reading load for each these seminars is intended to prepare you for the simulations. If you budget your time during this section of the course, you should be able to spread the readings over a two-week window.

During simulations, each student will be assigned a specific country and will be expected to prepare position papers and work collaboratively with other “countries” to research, draft, and negotiate UN resolutions in a format designed to mimic the Model UN experience as much as possible. More information about the model UN simulation will be provided in the first few weeks of class.
Lectures will be run as seminar discussions and students will be expected to attend seminar having completed all readings and prepared to contribute to discussion. Attendance is very important to your success in this class and is worth 15% of your final grade. You are expected to attend each class having completed the readings and ready to participate in discussion. Marks will be deducted for each unexplained absence.

Course assignments involve short Reading Responses, Position Papers detailing country background and policy positions, drafting collaborative Resolutions during in-class simulations, and a Simulation Report at the end of the course. Active participation throughout the entire course is mandatory for success but is especially required during in-class model UN simulations.

REQUIRED BOOKS AND READINGS
The two required books are:

These are available for purchase online. I have also left copies of each book on reserve in the library.

Other assigned readings will be available to students on Brightspace.

GRADE DISTRIBUTION
1) United Nations System and McMUN Exam (Held in Class F September 27): 15%
2) Reading Responses x 5 (Due on Brightspace at 8 pm before each lecture): 20%
3) Short Position Papers x 4 (Due on Brightspace at 8 pm before the first day of each simulation): 20%
4) Model UN Simulation Participation: 20%
5) Simulation Report: 15%
6) Participation (Attendance and contribution to seminar discussion): 10%

ASSIGNMENTS
United Nations System Exam: Students will write an in-class exam covering material from Section I of the course. The first portion of the exam will ask students to define and explain the significance of key terms on the UN system. The second portion will ask students to respond to a situational quiz based on McMUN Rules of Procedure. The exam will be held on September 27. The exam is worth 15% of the course grade.

Reading Responses: Students will write five 500-word responses to assigned seminar reading. Reading responses engage at least two readings. They may identify and engage with a central question, debate, or contentious position. Responses will be submitted to Brightspace by 8 pm the day before lecture. These are worth 15% of the course grade. All responses will be reviewed by Turnitin for originality. One of these responses must be submitted before the first exam, in response to a lecture topic of your choosing. All responses must be submitted on assigned reading material BEFORE these readings are discussed in class. Late responses will not be accepted. Reading responses are worth 20% of your final grade.

Short Position Papers: Students will write a short 250-500 word Model UN Position paper representing their country’s position in preparation for each simulation (4 in total). These papers are due online by 8 pm the evening before each simulation. Countries will be assigned during the class directly preceding the simulation. Position papers are worth 20% of the course grade.

Model UN Simulation Participation and Resolution Drafting: Students will be expected to actively contribute to each Model UN Simulation and will be graded on their preparedness, participation, and on the relative believability of their interventions and comportment as a delegate of a given country. Students are also required to contribute to the drafting of (be sponsors of) at least two different Resolutions during separate simulation exercises. The Resolutions should be about 700 words and the substance, tone, and format should resemble real-life resolutions adopted by the United Nations General Assembly and be the product of in-class collaboration between assigned countries. Participation in ALL of the simulation exercises is mandatory to pass this section of the course. Simulation participation and Resolution drafting are together worth 20% of the course grade.

Simulation Report: Near the conclusion of the course, students will write a report discussing their overall experience during the simulation exercise. Students should use this opportunity to reflect both on why they contributed to certain resolutions and passed on others. Students should also reflect on both their individual experience representing a specific country to trying to advance specific interests, and also on how these simulations informed their understanding of the United Nations as an international intuitional designed to provide global governance in the 21st century. The Model UN Simulation Report should be 1000 words. It is due on Brightspace (Dec. 4). The Simulation Report is worth 15% of the course grade.

SECTION B: UNIVERSITY POLICIES, STATEMENTS, GUIDELINES and RESOURCES for SUPPORT

This course is governed by the academic rules and regulations set forth in the University Calendar and the Senate, available at https://academiccalendar.dal.ca/Catalog/ViewCatalog.aspx?pageid=viewcatalog&catid=81&chapterid=4424&loadusereds= False

University Statements

Territorial Acknowledgement:
Dalhousie University is located in Mi’kma’ki, the ancestral and unceded territory of the Mi’kmaq. We are all Treaty people.

Academic Integrity

At Dalhousie University, we are guided in all of our work by the values of academic integrity: honesty, trust, fairness, responsibility and respect. As a student, you are required to demonstrate these values in all of the work you do. The University provides policies and procedures that every member of the university community is required to follow to ensure academic integrity. (read more: https://www.dal.ca/dept/university_secretariat/academic-integrity.html)

Accessibility

The Student Accessibility Centre is Dalhousie's centre of expertise for student accessibility and accommodation. The advising team works with students on the Halifax campus who request accommodation as a result of: a disability, religious obligation, or any barrier related to any other characteristic protected under Human Rights legislation (NS, NB, PEI, NFLD).

If there are aspects of the design, instruction, and/or experiences within this course that result in barriers to your inclusion please contact the Study Accessibility Centre: https://www.dal.ca/campus_life/academic-support/accessibility.html

Please note that your classroom may contain accessible furniture and equipment. It is important that these items remain in the classroom, undisturbed, so that students who require their use will be able to fully participate.

For more information about the purpose of territorial acknowledgements, or information about alternative territorial acknowledgements if your class is offered outside of Nova Scotia, please visit https://native-land.ca/.

Student Code of Conduct

Everyone at Dalhousie is expected to treat others with dignity and respect. The Code of Student Conduct allows Dalhousie to take disciplinary action if students don’t follow this community expectation. When appropriate, violations of the code can be resolved in a reasonable and informal manner—perhaps through a restorative justice process. If an informal resolution can’t be reached, or would be inappropriate, procedures exist for formal dispute resolution. (read more: https://www.dal.ca/dept/university_secretariat/policies/student-life/code-of-student-conduct.html)

Diversity and Inclusion – Culture of Respect
Every person at Dalhousie has a right to be respected and safe. We believe inclusiveness is fundamental to education. Dalhousie is strengthened in our diversity and dedicated to achieving equity. We are committed to being a respectful and inclusive community where everyone feels welcome and supported, which is why our university prioritizes fostering a culture of diversity and inclusiveness.
