APPROACHES TO DEVELOPMENT

Friday 11:35-14:25 (McCain 2184)

Instructor: David Black

Office: Henry Hicks 356

phone: 494-6638

e-mail: blackd@dal.ca

Office Hours: Assuming the public health situation remains stable, regular office hours will be held on Tuesdays, 3:00-4:00pm or by appointment.

This class offers a critical overview of the state of development studies and comparative politics (broadly understood) in “developing countries” or the global “South” for students in the social sciences. It is designed to appeal to a range of disciplines and interests and to aid in graduate research. Given the eclectic nature of the field, it is broad in scope but with a focus on political economy. This seminar course is also designed to relate to “extra-curricular” development education, and serves as one of the central classes in the graduate programmes in Political Science and International Development Studies at Dalhousie.

Content

The seminar is intended to provide an overview of approaches to, and issues and actors in, the field of (under)development studies. The landscape of “development” has undergone major changes over the past several decades, including: i) growing diversity within the ‘postcolonial world’, as development in much of the erstwhile “Third World” has proven elusive, while in other parts (e.g. “the BRICS”) growth and influence has accelerated; ii) a world economy that has undergone profound processes of structural change (often referred to as globalization) and more recently, sustained and far-reaching crises (of global health, inequality, sustainability, etc); and iii) a global political context that has transited from the relative stability of post-Second World War bipolarity followed by Western hegemony, into a new era of fluidity, diversity and uncertainty. The seminar schedule includes a section on the history of the idea of “development” and development theories, and the nature of the contemporary global changes that condition opportunities for development; a section on core actors in contemporary development, including the state in its various forms, international organizations and “global governance”, Transnational Corporations (TNCs), and NGOs and civil society; and a section on critical issues in development, such as the role of women/gender, the environment and sustainable development, security and “peacebuilding”, and Disability and development.

Structure and Requirements

Attendance & participation; Seminar Presentation & Position Paper

This course is organized around weekly in-person seminars. All students are expected to complete the assigned readings, and to contribute to seminar discussions.

In addition, beginning in week IV, each student will prepare and present a seminar “position paper” on one of the topics under discussion by the class, and lead off the seminar with a presentation. Each presentation should be brief and succinct - no more than 20 minutes – and where there is more than one presentation, should be closely coordinated with other presenters on the topic. The use of handouts, PowerPoints, and/or videos to enhance these oral presentations is encouraged but not required. The presentation should identify key issues for discussion, preferably in the form of questions that can generate debate and reflection. Additionally, the presentation and the accompanying paper (5 pages) that is due on the date of the presentation requires knowledge of the main argument of the author(s) of the required readings, and a brief assessment of the strengths and weaknesses of the author(s’) central argument or concepts, including whether the author(s’) evidence effectively supports their analysis and conclusions. It should discuss why you agree or disagree with their argument and conclusions, drawing on questions and issues that have been raised in other readings, lectures, and/or discussions from the course.

Book/Article Review

A book or article review (maximum 6 pages for graduates; 5 pages for undergraduates) will be due following Part I of the course (Wednesday, 15 February 2022). It should focus on a book or set of articles linked to one of the topics dealt with in our seminar discussions. If you wish to focus on a topic other than those addressed in seminars, please consult the professor. It will involve a synopsis of what you see as the key themes and ideas advanced in the book or articles, and their strengths, weaknesses, and/or implications.

Term Paper

Finally, there is a term paper on a set topic. The deadline for submission of term papers is Friday, 14 April. Late papers will be penalized. Papers should be no more than 20 typed, double-spaced pages for graduate students and no more than 15 typed, double-spaced pages for undergraduate students. They should be presented in proper academic style, with bibliography, notes, subheadings, etc.

The final grade for the course will be arrived at approximately as follows:

class attendance & participation	15%
seminar paper/presentation	20% (Throughout the term)
book/article review	20% (Due on Brightspace by 11.59 pm, Feb. 15 th)
Term paper	45% (Due on Brightspace by 11.59 pm, April 14 th)

Late papers will be penalised 2% per day.

The grading thresholds for graduate students are as follows:

90-100 = A+	77-79 = B+	Below 70 = F
85-89 = A	73-76 = B
80-84 = A-	70-72 = B-

The grading thresholds for undergraduates are as follows:

90-100 = A+	77-79 = B+	65-69 = C+	50-54 = D
85-89 = A	73-76 = B	60-64 = C	below 50 = F
80-84 = A-	70-72 = B-	55-59 = C-

Please note that the deadline to withdraw without a 'W' is 6th February 2023, and to withdraw with a 'W' is 13th March 2023.

Assigned Readings

The required text for the course is Anthony Payne and Nicola Phillips, Development (Polity 2010), which we will read in its entirety during weeks II-IV. It is available for purchase as an e-book (https://books.google.ca/books/about/Development.html?id=sh51iOVlfQgC&redir_esc=y). In addition, several copies will be placed on reserve at the Killam Library. All other required readings will be available electronically through the Killam.

Other Important Information:

Territorial Acknowledgement

Dalhousie University is located in Mi'kma'ki, the ancestral and unceded territory of the Mi'kmaq. We are all Treaty people.

Dalhousie University also acknowledges the histories, contributions, and legacies of African Nova Scotians, who have been here for over 400 years.

Academic Integrity

http://www.dal.ca/dept/university_secretariat/academic-integrity.html

At Dalhousie University, we are guided in all of our work by the values of academic integrity: honesty, trust, fairness, responsibility and respect (The Center for Academic Integrity, Duke University, 1999). As a student, you are required to demonstrate these values in all of the work you do. The University provides policies and procedures that every member of the university community is required to follow to ensure academic integrity.

Students are reminded that plagiarism (handing in another person's work as one's own or exact copying of the words of another author without attribution), submitting the same essay to more than 1 course, and close paraphrasing (reliance on a source with only minor alterations in wording) are unacceptable. Any paper submitted by a student may be checked for originality to confirm that the student has not plagiarized from other sources. Plagiarism is considered a serious academic offence which may lead to loss of credit, suspension or expulsion from the University, or even the revocation of a degree. It is essential that there be correct attribution of authorities from which facts and opinions have been derived. At Dalhousie, there are University Regulations which deal with plagiarism and, prior to submitting any paper in a course, students should read the Policy on Intellectual Honesty contained in the Calendar or on the Dal web at: (read more:

• Accessibility

The Advising and Access Services Centre is Dalhousie's Centre of expertise for student accessibility and accommodation. The advising team works with students who request accommodation as a result of: a disability, religious obligation, or any barrier related to any other characteristic protected under Human Rights legislation (NS, NB, PEI, NFLD).

Students who require academic accommodation for either classroom participation or the writing of tests and exams should make their request to the Office of Student Accessibility & Accommodation (OSAA) prior to or at the outset of the term. Please see www.studentaccessibility.dal.ca for more information and to obtain the Request for Accommodation – Form A. A note taker may be required to assist a classmate. There is an honorarium of $75/course/term. If you are interested, please contact OSAA at 494-2836 for more information. Please note that your classroom may contain specialized accessible furniture and equipment. It is important that these items remain in the classroom so that students who require their usage will be able to participate in the class.

• Student Code of Conduct

Everyone at Dalhousie is expected to treat others with dignity and respect. The Code of Student Conduct allows Dalhousie to take disciplinary action if students don't follow this community expectation. When appropriate, violations of the code can be resolved in a reasonable and informal manner—perhaps through a restorative justice process. If an informal resolution can't be reached, or would be inappropriate, procedures exist for formal dispute resolution. (read more:

Diversity and Inclusion – Culture of Respect

Every person at Dalhousie has a right to be respected and safe. We believe inclusiveness is fundamental to education. We stand for equality. Dalhousie is strengthened in our diversity. We are a respectful and inclusive community. We are committed to being a place where everyone feels welcome and supported, which is why our Strategic Direction prioritizes fostering a culture of diversity and inclusiveness (Strategic Priority 5.2).
