The Researcher Council Cloud Survey is coming soon

The Researcher Council Cloud Survey Steering Group is developing a survey for January 2023 to assess researchers' use of cloud services. This work seeks to address potential gaps in current service provision through national infrastructure, as described in the Alliance's Canadian DRI Needs Assessment. Findings from the survey will help to inform further planning and enhancements to the provision of cloud services in the future.

Cybersecurity Policies and Standards are now available

The National Security Council has published cybersecurity policies, standards
