

Honours Theses: 2012-2013

Courtney Bonner

“Uncommon Ground: A Study of the Conflict between Landowners and Mineral Rights Holders in Nova Scotia”

Sarah Bottomley

“To Treat, or Not to Treat?: An Exploration of Individuals' Perspectives of Eating Disorders, and Patient Perspectives on the Treatment of Eating Disorders”

Alice Boudreau

“Urban Agriculture: A Woman's Prerogative?”

Melissa Boulanger

“Local Food, Nostalgia and the Purchase of Tradition”

Jeremy Dutcher

“Traditional Music in a Contemporary Moment: Musical Pan-Indigeneity as Revitalization in the Wabanaki Region”

Haley Farrar

“Learning within the Margins: Social Stigma Experienced by Low Literate Adult Nova Scotians”

Kieran Innocenzi

“Experiences of Democracy: Dissatisfaction and Disinterest among Marginal Citizens”

Dru Morrison

“Bread and Education: the Canadian University's Role in the Public Sphere”

Sara McCulligh

“Occupational Communities altered by Overqualified Workers”

Adam Muir

“Examining Dalhousie University Student Decisions to Access, Delay and Avoid Healthcare Services”

Karin Murray-Bergquist

“Wild Lands and Far Horizons: Southern Conservation Perspectives in Northern Canada”

Brandon Robinson

“‘Once you leave your country, you're a citizen of the world’: National Identity as Transnational Perception and Practice”

Addy Shoichet

“Doctors, Lawyers, Janitors: Unpacking Post-Secondary Students' Perceptions of Occupational Prestige”

Ivy Staker

“Smoke Signals: How the Stigmatization of Smokers Affects Families in Which One or Both Parents Smoke”

Rebecca Sutton

“‘It works and it doesn't work’: A Study of the Structure of Special Needs Learning in the HRM”