

James E. Holloway, Jr. Memorial Award

The Department of Spanish is establishing a fund, which we hope to endow, to honour the memory of Dr. James E. Holloway, Jr., for over thirty years a professor of Spanish and Latin American Literature at Dalhousie University. At the discretion of the Dalhousie Department of Spanish, and in honour of Dr. Holloway's life-long commitment to and passion for Latin American literature, an award may be granted to a student who will graduate with an Honours degree in the Department of Spanish and who has demonstrated a consistently high level of achievement in literature courses and who has successfully completed an Honours thesis in the Department in Latin American Literature.

Donations should be forwarded to the Office of External Relations, MacDonald Building, Dalhousie University. Cheques should be made payable to Dalhousie University and should be clearly marked for the Holloway Memorial Fund. For further information about donations, please contact Ms. Natasha Laroche at 494-5112.
